Biography

After completing his legal education in İzmir, Sinan Cem Ünlü earned his LL.M. with a thesis focus on international trade and maritime law at University of Nottingham, before beginning his legal practice in İstanbul with a primary focus on commercial law.

Over the years, he has built a strong reputation in debt restructuring, insolvency, concordat proceedings, and corporate advisory services, representing both emerging and established businesses across various industries. Alongside his commercial practice, he has developed extensive experience in insurance law, policy disputes, risk coverage structures, and complex dispute resolution matters.

Combining strategic legal insight with a commercially driven perspective, Sinan Cem Ünlü advises clients on navigating legal risks, protecting business continuity, and managing high-value disputes in an increasingly complex business environment.
